Document: P&L Deep Research — Benchmark + Methodology Source Prepared for: Rodolphe Belin (“Rudi”) — Principal Investor Prepared by: Zharkyn Ryspayev (“Zhan”) — Founder, CEO/CTO · Dmytro Tsvyk (“Dymo”) — Co-founder, Operations Principal As of: 5 May 2026 Original drafting date: 2026-04-18 Purpose: Supporting research for `P_AND_L_STATEMENT.md` — public-company benchmarks, UAE tax framework, industry multiples, DD standards Status: Research source document — retained for traceability; not intended for investor review directly

Executive Summary — what the research found

Fourteen web sources covering five real-estate-tech public companies (Compass, Zillow, Redfin, Opendoor, eXp; REA Group AU; Rightmove UK; KE Holdings CN; Huspy UAE), PropTech SaaS benchmark research (Rule of 40, valuation multiples), UAE tax framework (Corporate Tax, Small Business Relief, QFZP, transfer pricing), IFRS 15 revenue recognition for real-estate brokerage, and VC DD standards were reviewed between 2026-04-18.

Eight key findings informing the P&L build:

- 1. Real-estate brokerage gross margins are structurally low — Compass 17.7 % gross margin (2024 FY, USD 994.5 M gross on USD 5.6 B revenue); eXp ~8–10 %; Opendoor 8.4 % (iBuyer model). Redfin hybrid reports 34.9 % blended with the technology layer included. This establishes a benchmark floor: pure Agency brokerage GP% should not be modelled above 25 %.
- 2. Portal / marketplace gross margins are high — Rightmove UK delivers ~70 % operating margin on GBP 389.9 M revenue (2024 FY). REA Group AU EBITDA margin 56.8 % (AUD 825 M EBITDA on AUD 1.45 B). These establish the benchmark ceiling for platform SaaS / portal revenue streams in the ZAAHI model.
- 3. Hybrid Agency + Platform P&L is rare publicly — no public comparable blends both. KE Holdings comes closest (platform + brokerage + financial services) with 2024 revenue RMB 93.5 B up 20.2 % YoY. Zillow blends portal + mortgage (USD 2.2 B, 22 % adj-EBITDA margin in 2024).

4. Rule of 40 benchmarks stage-dependent — Series A / growth stage (USD 5–30 M ARR) expects 30–40 approaching Series B. A Rule of 40 > 40 % attracts valuation 9.4× median revenue vs 3.5× for < 20 %. ZAAHI Y1 Rule of 40 projection ~65 (dominated by high growth given small base); Y3 target ~45–55.
5. PropTech valuation multiples — public average 7.4× EV/Revenue; mainstream PropTech 8.8×; range 6–15× by subsector. Early-stage Proptech 8–12× ARR. PropTech trades 15–25 % discount to pure SaaS. IPO-stage valuation target for ZAAHI Platform at USD 100 M – 1 B range is defensible by Year 5–10 at current traction trajectory.
6. UAE tax framework for ZAAHI dual-entity structure — - Agency (Dubai Mainland LLC): 9 % CT above AED 375,000 taxable income; Small Business Relief (0 %) available up to AED 3 M revenue until 31 December 2026. Threshold is binary (lose if exceeded). - Platform (ADGM HoldCo): QFZP status targets 0 % on qualifying income per Ministerial Decision 229 of 2025. Qualifying activities include advisory, administrative and strategic support to group companies, centralised services — covers the 70 % inter-company Service Fee scenario. - Transfer pricing: local file required if revenue > AED 200 M or related-party transactions per category > AED 3.75 M. Early years ZAAHI likely below threshold; still must disclose on CT return and maintain evidence. - Personal layer: UAE has no personal income tax; no withholding on domestic dividends.
7. IFRS 15 for Agency commission revenue — real-estate broker has enforceable right to commission only when the sale completes. Performance obligation satisfied at point in time (transaction completion). Revenue recognised on DLD transfer certificate or equivalent closing event. Platform subscription revenue is a performance obligation satisfied over time, recognised monthly.
8. Dubai market macro — Q1 2026 AED 176.7 B residential sales across 48k transactions, annualised trajectory 200k+ transactions / AED ~700 B–1 T. Off-plan 73 % of volume, 70 % of value. Median villa AED 4.1 M (+35 % YoY), off-plan apartment AED 1.4 M (+3 % YoY). Dubai commission standard 2 % buyer / 5 % rental (RERA-recognised market custom, not law). Average agent monthly commission AED 18,000 (Late 2025 cohort data).

Each finding is used in a specific section of `P_AND_L_STATEMENT.md` and cited inline with a footnote.

Template structure — industry-standard P&L layout for a hybrid Agency + Platform model

Based on source synthesis, the ideal P&L layout has four blocks:

Block A — Revenue disclosure by segment - Agency segment (brokerage commission split by asset class — plots, off-plan, residential, commercial) - Platform segment (subscription / transactional / data / other) - Total revenue + YoY growth

Block B — Cost of Revenue - Direct deal costs (Agency: Trakheesi, notary, DD; Platform: hosting, APIs, payment processing, licenses) - Gross Profit + Gross Margin % - Benchmark callout

Block C — Operating Expenses (S&M, R&D, G&A) - Sales & Marketing — campaigns, sales comp, partnerships - Research & Development — engineering, infrastructure, external tools - General & Administrative — founder comp, office, professional services, insurance, other - Each as % of revenue vs industry benchmark - EBITDA + EBITDA Margin % - Benchmark callout (Rule of 40)

Block D — Below-the-line - Depreciation & Amortisation - Operating Income / Operating Margin % - Corporate Tax (Agency CT with SBR modelling; Platform CT with QFZP modelling) - Net Income / Net Margin % - Statutory Reserve + Operating Reserve - Distributable Net Profit - Distribution per SHA (70 / 10 / 10 / 10)

Benchmarks — margin profiles for comparable companies

Used directly in §3 Consolidated P&L, §9 Key Financial Metrics, §13 Comparable Company Benchmarking of the P&L Statement.

Gross Margin benchmarks by model

Company	Model	2024 Gross Margin	Revenue	Note
Compass Inc (US)	Owned brokerage	17.7 %	USD 5.63 B	USD 994.5 M gross profit; agents get most of commission as direct cost
Opendoor (US)	iBuyer	8.4 %	USD 5.2 B	Inventory model — not applicable to ZAAHI
eXp World Holdings (US)	Agent-split brokerage	~9 %	USD 4.6 B	High agent commission pass-through
Redfin (US)	Hybrid tech + brokerage	34.9 % (blended) / 24.2 % (RE services pure)	USD 1.04 B	Technology layer lifts blended margin
REA Group (AU)	Portal / marketplace	~80 % (portal gross)	AUD 1.45 B	Benchmark ceiling — pure platform
Rightmove (UK)	Portal	~88 % (portal gross)	GBP 390 M	70 % underlying operating margin
KE Holdings (CN)	Hybrid platform + broker	~22 % (blended)	RMB 93.5 B	Closest comparable to ZAAHI dual-entity model

ZAAHI blended Y1 gross margin expectation: ~50–65 %. Agency portion (40 % of gross revenue) at ~20 % GM; Platform portion (15–20 % of revenue depending on mix) at ~75 % GM; ambassador / service fees at ~90 % GM. Weighted blended of ~50 % for Y1 stress case, ~65 % for base case.

EBITDA Margin benchmarks (mature companies)

Company	2024 EBITDA Margin	Stage
Rightmove (UK)	~70 % (operating)	Mature
REA Group (AU)	56.8 %	Mature
Zillow (US)	22 % (Adj EBITDA)	Growth
Compass (US)	~(3) % (still negative)	Growth
Redfin (US)	~(15) %	Growth
Opendoor (US)	(2.8) %	Growth
Huspy (UAE)	Not disclosed (private)	Early growth

ZAAHI trajectory: Year 1 EBITDA ~40 % (Agency-heavy + SBR 0 % CT); Year 3 ~50 %; Year 5 ~55 %. These map to SaaS Capital “mature growth” benchmarks and REA Group mid-maturity profile.

Rule of 40 benchmarks

Stage	Target R40
Seed / early	50 + (growth-dominated)
Series A ($5–30 M ARR)	30–40 (approaching Series B)
Series B / C	40 +
Public growth stage	40 +
Public mature	30 +

ZAAHI trajectory: Y1 R40 ~65–75 (growth 200 %+ from near-zero); Y2 R40 ~55–65; Y3 R40 ~45–55; Y5 R40 ~40–50. Consistent with Series A–B profile per SaaS Capital benchmark.

Valuation multiples PropTech 2025

- Public PropTech average: 7.4× EV/Revenue
- Mainstream PropTech: 8.8× EV/Revenue
- Range: 6–15× depending on subsector and growth rate
- Early stage: 8–12× ARR (vs 15–20× for pure SaaS)
- PropTech discount to pure SaaS: 15–25 %
- Rule of 40 > 40 %: 9.4× revenue median
- Rule of 40 < 20 %: 3.5× revenue median (121 % valuation premium for high R40)

ZAAHI Platform IPO-stage valuation modelling, applied in §8 Rudi’s Return Trajectory of the P&L Statement: - Year 5 Platform revenue target AED 25 M (USD ~6.8 M). At 10× (aggressive), EV ~USD 70 M. Not yet IPO-scale. - Year 7 Platform revenue target AED 80 M (USD ~22 M). At 10×, EV ~USD 220 M. - Year 10 Platform revenue target AED 300 M (USD ~82 M). At 10×, EV ~USD 820 M → IPO-credible scale.

Recommendations for ZAAHI — what applies, what does not, why

What applies directly

1. Segment revenue disclosure (Compass, Zillow, REA Group all split by segment) — ZAAHI should disclose Agency and Platform separately, with further splits (plots vs off-plan within Agency; subscription vs transactional vs data within Platform).
2. S&M / R&D / G&A categorisation (standard across all public PropTech) — ZAAHI adopts standard.
3. Non-GAAP Adjusted EBITDA (Zillow, Compass, Redfin, Opendoor all report this) — ZAAHI includes Adjusted EBITDA as a supplementary measure excluding founder-specific items (e.g., non-cash equity-based compensation once issued).
4. Rule of 40 tracking (investor-standard metric per SaaS Capital research) — ZAAHI includes as a standing metric in §9.
5. Conservative / Base / Aggressive scenarios (standard for any Series A P&L) — already aligned with v4 Financial Model.

What applies with adaptation

1. Gross margin benchmark — pure brokerage comparables (Compass, eXp) are too low (~10 %) because ZAAHI includes a platform layer. Redfin's hybrid (34.9 %) is closer but still below ZAAHI's target because Redfin's tech layer is a smaller % of revenue. REA Group / Rightmove (~70–80 %) are too high because ZAAHI is not a pure portal. Applicable benchmark: KE Holdings hybrid (~22 %) with upward adjustment for ZAAHI's higher-margin revenue mix → target ~50–65 % in base case.
2. Revenue recognition timing — IFRS 15 confirms point-in-time recognition for Agency commission on DLD transfer. Platform subscription revenue recognised over time. ZAAHI adopts both.

What does NOT apply

1. Opendoor iBuyer P&L structure — inventory-driven, capital-intensive, low gross margin. Not applicable to ZAAHI's asset-light model.
2. eXp agent-split revenue-share model — commission-only compensation with high pass-through. Not ZAAHI's model; ZAAHI salaried agents plus platform economics.

3. Zillow mortgage segment disclosure — ZAAHI does not (yet) operate mortgage origination. Segment may be added in future years.

UAE-specific requirements

1. IFRS as adopted by UAE — ZAAHI follows UAE accounting framework. Small businesses may use IFRS for SMEs until threshold breached; at consolidation stage, full IFRS.
2. Small Business Relief structural note — threshold expires 31 December 2026. ZAAHI Year 1 (May 2026 – Apr 2027) straddles the cutoff; counsel to confirm treatment if annual revenue crosses AED 3 M within tax period ending before 31 Dec 2026.
3. QFZP requires transfer-pricing documentation — for the 70 % Service Fee from Agency to Platform, a formal arm's-length study is recommended even below the AED 3.75 M per-category threshold, to defend QFZP status of Platform.
4. VAT 5 % — pass-through on commercial brokerage services; zero-rated or exempt for residential-sales brokerage depending on exact treatment (counsel confirms).
